Overview

Eric Endelman is an attorney in our Real Estate practice group, assisting developers, owners, and investors in acquiring, financing, selling, and leasing office buildings, retail centers, industrial facilities, and multifamily and manufactured housing communities, in addition to serving their day-to-day legal needs. Eric has substantial experience in the acquisition and disposition of single-tenant, net-leased retail properties throughout the United States.

Prior to joining Jaffe, Eric worked as in-house counsel for a real estate management and development company where he handled a variety of legal and business matters related to real estate. He also worked as an attorney, concentrating his practice on business transactions, business planning, and estate planning.
