Marc Berkemeier is a partner at Raines Feldman LLP and has over eighteen years' experience representing health care insurers, production companies, and governmental entities in such complex litigation matters as provider disputes, class actions, unfair competition, and misappropriation of trade secrets. Marc's recent successes include securing a favorable settlement for a major California health care service plan in a provider dispute related to thousands of hospital patient claims. He also has obtained favorable resolutions in class actions brought on behalf of plan subscribers alleging unfair competition claims.

Prior to joining Raines Feldman, Marc was an attorney at another prominent litigation firm, as well as general counsel for, and board member of, Los Angeles based Progressive Beverages, Inc.

During law school, Marc served as a judicial intern for the Honorable Stephanie Duncan-Peters in the DC Superior Court, and following law school, he clerked for the Honorable Bohdan A. Futey in the United States Court of Federal Claims in Washington, DC.
