When it comes to your HR-related questions and concerns, Rosa Nuñez is here to listen and help. She joined Johnson Pope in 2017 and as JP's Human Resources Manager, Rosa oversees everything from benefits administration, payroll and employee relations to recruitment and leave administration. She also maintains knowledge of trends, best practices, regulatory changes and new technologies in human resources, talent management, and employment law.

Rosa has a significant background working in HR for large corporations, and also served as a legal assistant earlier in her career, which gives her valuable perspective in her role with us. Known for her strong listening and conflict resolution skills, Rosa is committed to doing what's best for every employee at Johnson Pope.
