OVERVIEW

Alexander Harris represents clients in corporate matters and business transactions. His experience includes assisting in the formation of business associations and performing due diligence on real estate matters. Prior to joining Osborn Maledon, Alexander was an associate at Eide Bailly and KPMG where he helped resolve complex tax considerations for business entities by performing large scale research and development tax credit studies.

In his free time, Alexander enjoys snowboarding, golfing, traveling, camping, and learning about cryptocurrency. He also enjoys playing, watching, and coaching sports.
